the Sag-Nicht organs in the South have themselves into a rage against the Amits alleged Freecollism in the North eately shown that these Sag-Nh that the secession party are false promises, and are resorted to by the slaves and so much with the exhortation to be followed by the most ignorant of the people of the South from the deep-rooted Freesoilism of the South and Freesoilism which pervades the North. The Northern Democracy and its party their party banners, and to the North the Southern Democrats have been called.

The party of Freesoilism against the South is based upon a dispatch from a convention in Pennsylvania in which a portion of the Know-Nothings of that State notified the nomination of David Wilmot as Republican candidate for Governor. The dispatch read over this dispatch and declared that the nomination of Wilmot was the Wilmost Proviso.

It has already been shown that this dispatch is a Republican fraud, that there is no meeting of the American States anywhere near any convention of this kind of that by the same course the same thing has been given to the people of the North by the same means.

the Americans of Pennsylvania have indignantly repudiated any connection with the Republicans or any endorsement of the candidate and a convention of the American called to meet at Lancaster, Pa., proximo, to nominate a full and perfect ticket.

The Americans of Pennsylvania have waved. They are disgusted and have repudiated for their conduct last fall the pro-fusion. They reject all compromise, and with an innate confidence in fighting for principles as dear, and with a determination to achieve, on these which they deem as solemn, as those which God needs the hearts and souls of men, they will stand on their own plain rather than "think or swim, survive" will maintain, independently, the organization.

While the Americans of the North and heroically opposing the tactics of the Catholics which is sweeping over the nation is the Democratic party? It

After covigently the corner-stone of the incorporated alien suffrage bill, Alabama, and the Democrats of the South the North are found defending and sustaining these doctrines which en masse have been denounced as more odious than Proslavery, and practical experience has been the most effectual and dangerous assurance that abolition cunning has ever taken.

We took occasion to show a few days since from the records, that the resolution by the Black Republicans of Ohio, in word, and letter for better, the identical which for ten consecutive years has been the platform of the Democracy of this

What is known as the "Wilnot-Provili David Wilnot, the Black Republic for Governor in Pennsylvania over- sity, did not originate with him. Ight forward in Congress in 1813 was pending to authorize the people of Mary to form their State Constitution. olge, of New York, offered the follow- ing to that bill:

That the further introduction of slavery or of white be prohibited, except for the purpose which the party said have been duly convicted children born within the said State, after

This amendment passed the House of Representatives but was rejected by the Senate, and the admission of Missouri was postponed until the following Congress. In November 1820 a meeting was held in Lancaster county, Pa., at which a committee, one of whom was John C. Scherman, the President of the Union League, reported the following resolutions:

Resolved, that the Representatives in Congress be, and they are hereby, authorized to use their utmost endeavor, as national Legislature, to prevent the extension of the Territories or new States which are organized. As the opinion of this meeting, the Legislature of this State will shortly be called upon to express, and as the petitioners are early and most earnestly anxious that the trusting our Representatives in the Nation upon the most solemn and strenuous exertions to prevent the extension of the Territories, which may hereafter be proposed or put to the members of Assembly from this county to endorse the earliest opportunity of bringing before the Legislature of this State the proposed bill, that, in the opinion of this meeting of Congress, on the last session, of justice, humanity, and patriotism, be warmly adopted, and that the petitioners do, for the purpose of the Missouri Territory, be formed of the friends of humanity, Mr. Buchanan, for whom Southern men throw their caps high in the air.

These resolutions contain the very celebrated Wilmot Proviso, and we find it with the very man whom the Society have made the President of the States.

Proclaimed. That, as an express and fundamental condition of the acquisition of any territory from Mexico by the United States, by virtue of which no bargain shall be made between them and the Executive of the moment hereinafter appropriated nor involuntary servitude shall ever exist of said territory except for crime, when it first be duly convicted.

This same Wilmot was at that time a member of Congress from Pennsylvania. His proviso was sustained by the Democrats in Representatives.

in 1847, Mr. Hamlin, of Maine, attached the Wilcox Proviso to the "Thirteenth," in these words:

Provided further: That there shall be no involuntary servitude in any territory or in America which shall hereafter be acquired to the United States by virtue of this act in any manner whatever except for crimes which shall have been duly convicted.

Mr. Hamlin was then a Democratic maine, and the proviso passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 85 to 80, the fol-

Indiana Democrats voting for it: Men-dman, Foster, Leib, Thompson, McLellanot, and Yost; and the following opposed, C. J. Ingersoll, and Garvin.
In January, 1847, Mr. Piolett, a Democrat, introduced the following preamble and resolution in response of the Pennsylvania Legislature to the President's message.
WHEREAS, The existing war with Mexico has resulted in the acquisition of new territory; and whereas, the people of this State are now pondering in Congress having in view the acquisition of new territory; and the conferring of authority on the President to take possession of the same; Therefore, Resolved, That the people of this State do hereby

On the 26th of January, these were considered unanimously by the following House:

Speaker would award the floor to him to call up the House resolution. Th So. Mr. Bigler, accordingly, called tion, made a strong speech in its fa les to put it on its final passage; and,

the following vote:

Nays—Messrs. Anderson, Black, and Fort.

Every Democratic member of the assembly, with only three exceptions, voted for the resolution. They are nothing more than the Wilmet Provisors. They are of the Wilkeson Provision. They are the of Abolitionism. Thus from its inroduction to the present we find the arty of Pennsylvania originating and is famous Wilkeson Provision. In Con-ate Legislature, in their county con-age, and Free Kansas, and they are often they advocate squatter-sovereignty suffrage, which the Abolition leaders hold to be better, and more practical, and more useful measures than were ever before devised. Southern men ponder upon these facts, and wonder how Buck and Brock, and Free Kansas Democrats, can so easily turn squatter-sovereignty and alien suffrage into the most iniquitous and unchristian measures to Southern rights and Southern interests.

The Sag-Nicht organ here complains that a majority of the officers of the municipal election were Americans. In fact, the Americans were much more liberal and the Democrats are wont to be. Some of the officers of the election were Democrats and some American authorities, but it is the indeed it is the invariable rule, democrats have the power to appoint officers, to select Sag-Nichts exclusively.

THE FORTIETH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—Wm. Anderson, Esq., is announced as the American candidate in the Fourth Congressional District. He is a standard bearer worthy of the party, and will carry his flag in triumph through the approaching campaign. He is a native of the State, and has long been interested in the progress of the Republic. His interest, identified with it from infancy to manhood, has grown up with it and will remain devoted to it while his life lasts. The Americans of the district may begin to sing their songs of victory. They go forth with gladdened hearts and animated voices to cheer the brave and patriotic soldier on his glorious career. They will, we know, in the mountains and in the valleys, buckle on their armor and fight for Anderson as never they have fought before. He is a gallant fellow, and, the proper aid from his friends, is loath to win races by a triumphant majority. The Eighth district is a large one, and the American cause is strong, and Anderson is the man to redeem it. He is the young eagle whose eyes have opened upon the uncertain scenery of that district. Eloquence only, full of ardor and enthusiasm, there as steady and reliable as the compass which points always to the pole, the people of the district of all parties were united in their admiration of him. No wonder, even he is known he is loved and admired. He needs only a proper organization and effort on the part of his friends to achieve a brilliant victory.

His opponent, Mr. Talbott, is one of the ablest and most courteous who have to obtain office under the rule of "Old Line Whig." He is emphatically an American. He has made the district parties of the South search after office and now is virtually a member of the Kentucky.

This Democratic candidate, Mr. Talbott, with the Whig party until the autumn of 1860. October, 1864, he joined the American party and remained in it until February, 1865. While he was in the Whig party he was elected to the Congress in the Eighth District. While no intransigent American that he could be found visiting the councils of the American order, he untiringly took upon himself all its obligations and submitted its claims to the American order of

While he was in the Whig party he was elected to the Congress in the Eighth District. While no intransigent American that he could be found visiting the councils of the American order, he untiringly took upon himself all its obligations and submitted its claims to the American order of abolition to Congress. During the time at the University of Virginia, he had been elected to the Phi Kappa Psi chapter, which could be a better or more intense American than pretended to be. He not only declared himself in favor of its principles but avowed that he was "racked then from his mother's breast and fed milk by the dogs." The American party had no similarity and rejected him. He Americanized himself and was elected to the Phi Kappa Psi chapter because all at once an intense Saxon. He was ready to do all the dirty work of the Night party, to spend his money freely, to do anything for a seat in Congress.

Mr. Talbot was nominated and chosen for Congress in 1854. He was a member of the Whig Democracy, and in a speech made in 1853 he claimed to belong to that nonsectarian party of Kentucky politicians, the "Old Line." He was nothing to say of his Congressional career. He made no mark there by which it may be estimated. He was content to be merely a Congressman, one of a pack of sheep, not for he had no mind. He was a good man, and a good citizen. He was "sometimes nice and sometimes not."

He had been Know-Nothing, ex-Know-Nothing, Whig, Democrat, and Old-Line Whig, anything he wanted to be, and he had been in politics everything, and nobody knew where to place him and he didn't take the pains to place himself.

Mr. Talbot came home and has received a quasi endorsement of the Democratic party in the district for the nomination for Congress by a large convention held at Jamestown. In this convention Talbot, the renegade Know-Nothing, the apostate Whig, and pretended Democrat, was appointed to represent the district. Although by far the most popular of the district he has been the most unpopular of the true and tried Democrats of the mountains. His program were overwrought and defeated by the old-adroit Trade-workers, and the favorite of the "blue-grass" delegation was declared the Democratic candidate.

It is not altogether agreeable whether the "blue-grass" candidate should be regarded as a citizen of Kentucky. We have been reliably informed that he had not received this nomination, he would have been of citizens of Missouri. He was sold all his life

THE COMEDY—Judging from the gravity and severance of the efforts made to quiet the public upon this subject, the public must be extremely ignorant and deluded sort of a body. It has needed one-fifth part of the assurance of the fact that the public is so ignorant, that a public is so ignorant would be a libel on the age, especially on the boasted culture and intelligence country. But we have a shrewd suspicion in this affair the public is more sinned against than sinning. The oracles and philosophers are pre-

THE HOT CHOLERA.—The Worcester City reports that many farmers in the vicinity are losing their swine by the mysterious disease known as the hog cholera. The loss is estimated at the rate of $100,000 or less per cent of the total stock of the least extent upon nearly every farm. In cases, the disease is traced to Western hogs that have been sold by the drivers the present year and which seem to have communicated the disease to the other inmates of the sties in which they were kept.

While the Americans of the North are thus led off and heroically opposing the torrent of secessionist fanaticism which is sweeping over that region, where is the Democratic party? It has made quite sovereignly the concession of its fifth principle, and it has thus snuffage into its party platform, and the Washington writes: "The North are fast, defending and eagerly recasting these doctrines which in latest Southern statements have denounced as more odious than Nullism, Provisionism, and prettied experience has shown to be the most effectual and dangerous fumes of the secessionist furnace have ever devised."

We took occasion to notice, a few days ago, the extracts from the records of a free republic, which
